Events of Yesterday. Go to Capitol park to-day at 4:00. The condition of several gutters and pumps complained of by citizens. The improvement of Lincoln avenue, formerly Gicenwood road, is nearly completed. The grand jury was yesterday discharged by judge Wylie until the 18th of October next.

The health officer is making an inspection of all the dairy names in the county from which milk is brought to this city.

Henry Snowden, a colored man, died yesterday from injuries received by being kicked by a horse at Hensinger's bazar.

Wm. Arnold was held in $500 ball in the police court yesterday for assaulting M. B Clarvoe, a car driver, on Saturday night. Daniel Maloney was painfully injured pre-terday by being out with an ax while cutting a tree at the Howard university grounds.

James K. Prahey has requested the com-missioners to grant Mr. S. R. Cox. a permit to erect a flag pole in front of his residence. Richard Ross was fined 55 in the police sourt yesterday for assembling Mr. Henry Pum-blirey and was fined $10 for stealing a whip. Tyler Lee was identified by the size of his nouth yesterday by a colored girl as the man tho assaulted her a year ago. He was fined

W. S. Rouibach, who died in Richmond last week, was the draf secretary of the civil ser-dec commission, and was well known in this jail in the police court yesterday for stealing a pair of shoes from the feet of a little child of Mr. Hennan Schmid.

John T. S. Croggon, with some thirty others s complainants, by a bill in equity against amnoi Amery and wife, prays for partition of art of lot !; square 494. Messrs, Hime and Thomas, as attorneys for baniel O'Leary, have filed a petition in equity oraying that the suit of Gibert Simpson against Wan. W. Rown and others may be revived in he name of the petitioner.

Pen Barley was fined $20 in the police court resterday for knocking two teeth from the month of James Be Vaugan. The assault grew at of a dispute as to which of the boys should frive a bill horse on the Avenue line.

The roof of the white house seems to be used so convenience by the telegraph and telephone companies, more than sixty wires crossing the roof. Steps have been taken to present the wires from getting tangled, and they re being fixed systematically.

Justice Wylie, holding the district court, yes-terday granted a final discharge from bank-ruptcy in the case of Henry Wolford and Marks Shilberg, formerly dry goods merchants doing basiness on Market space, under the firm name of Wolford and Shilberg. Lizzic Wright, who wrote a letter to Lewis Wagman, a colored man, calling him her "baby" and asking him to come to see her, came into the police court yesterday pretty badly beaten up, and charged Lowis with assault. Lewis had "come to see her" and left an impression—with his shoes. He was sentenced to six months in jail.

In the notice of the $50 prize offered by the Hon. Thomas D.Worrall, of No. 618 F street, for the best scrinon on "slander," it was erroneously stated as one of the conditions that all sermons sent to him should become Mr. Worrall's property to publish if he desired. It is only the one receiving the prize which he will keep and publish. The others will be returned.

SPEED OF RAILWAY TRAINS. The Law Regulating Their Running in the City Regarded as Unconstitutional.

Robert Rumley, an engineer, and Samuel Bell, a conductor on the Baltimore and Ohio railway, were charged in the police court yes-terday with running trains at a speed faster than six miles an hour. R. T. Merrick appeared for the defense, and admitted that they did run their trains faster than six miles an hour. He claimed, however, that the law under which the charge was brought (that passed by the legislative assembly in 1871) was regarded as a dead letter, and that no instructions had ever been given to the railway men by their employers. He held that the law was unconstitutional and inoperative, as congress had already defined the law, and the legislature had no right to override it. Congress, he said, had designated the milway as a mail route, and the company was bound to fill its contracts. an hour. He claimed, however, that the law mail route, and the company was bound to fill its contracts.

Judge Shell said congress undoubtedly had authority to regulant the speed of its mails, and having codbrise, control of Ahe streets, he thought the legislature had no right to interfere with the control of speed. Mr. Forrest said he was taken somewhat by surprise by the points raised, and would like to have time to look into the law. If think," said Judge Shell, "there is no escaping the decision. The legislature evidently had no right to override the laws passed by congress." He continued the case until to-day.

§ Warrants were sworn out yesterday against the case until to-day, IWarrants were sworn out yesterday against Engineer Messch and Conductor Hyland, of the Baltimore and Potemae railway company, charging them with running their trains laster than six miles an hour.

With Durkee's Salad Dressing there is no use or disappointment. You are certain to reduce a good salad. It costs less than home-nade, and is, besides, a superb table sauce.

A Charge of Over Zeal.

Mr. Frank Claudy, mailing clerk of the census bureau, was arrested last week by Inspector lenderson, of the postoffice department, harged with using an official envelope for charged with using an official envelope for non-official business. Mr. Claudy was out on ball for four days, and when the case was tried on Saturday it was abundantly proved that Mr. Claudy had used the envelope solely for official business, and had committed no wrong; therefore the case was dismissed. Mr. Claudy says that this acquittal is not an adequate reparation for the ignominy east upon him and the sufficing caused his family by the publication in all the newspapers of the country that he had been arrested for defrauding the government. He states that inspector Henderson refused to hear any explanation from him or from his chief, and neglected to make inquiries of any of his superiors, or he would have at once discovered that Mr. Claudy was perfectly innocent. One word, he says, with the superintendent of census would have been sufficient to show Mr. Henderson that he had no case. Mr. Claudy thinks that an outrage has been purpetrated upon him; that inspector Henderson has been over zealosis, and that the only reparation which the victim can get is through a full account of the affair in the newspapers.

The Straw Bond Cases. James W. Donohue was indicted March 3, 1882, for perjury, and with others in two cases for conspiracy. It grew out of the mail letting of 1880, and what was known as the straw bond bidding, and up to the present time, two years and a half having expired, there has been no trial or indication that there would be one. Mr. A. K. Browne, the attorney, called the attention of Judge Wylie to the status of the case in the criminal court yesterday morning and the inability of Mr. Donohue to obtain a hearing, which, if allowed, he was satisfied would result in establishing his client's innocence. As a trial could not be had he asked that the bond be discharged and Mr. Donohue relieved of that responsibility.

Assistant District Attorney Coyle stated that the district attorney was corresponding with the attorney general with the view of reaching a settlement in these cases. He did not believe any objection would be made to Mr. Donohue being discharged on his own recognizance.

Judge Wylie directed such an order to be of 1880, and what was known as the straw bond

Judge Wylle directed such an order to be made.

It is understood that Mr. W. W. Ker, special counsel for the government, has written to the attorney general suggesting the dismissal of the straw bond cases.

Nationals vs. Bostons, Capitol park, 4:30. Indicted for Government Frauds. The grand jury yesterday returned into court two more indictments against Bell Mann, of Chicago, Ill., in which he is charged with vio-lating sections 5421 and 5438 of the revised lating sections 5421 and 5438 of the revised statutes, in presenting false vouchers to the navy department—on April 15, 1882, a bill for bottles, jars, stoppers, &c., amounting to $1,359,42, and on May 2, 1883, a bill for operating tables, invalid bedsteads, &c., amounting to $1,352. The defendant was in court and pleaded not guilty to all of the indictments, and, being under $5,000 ball as to two of the cases, his personal recognizance was taken in the sum of $2,500 as to the others.

Three indictments were presented against Herman Bruggeman, charging him with the larceny of 15,600 postage stamps, the property of the United States, embezziement, and violation of section 553 of the revised statutes.

Win, E. Cook was also indicted for stealing money from registered letters.

"THE Coca Beef Tonic of the Liebig company, combined as it is with coca, quinine, and Iron, forms a most valuable adjunct to the practice of medicine. From the experience we have had with it we are forced to speak in favor of it and to recommend its use. Beef, iron, and quinine cannot be surpassed by any other three ingredients in or out of the dispensatory, for invigorating an enfeebled system, and when such remedies can be obtained combined, from so reliable a house as Licciag's, it behooves the profession to patronize the same to the fullest extent."—Prof. C. A BROKER'S OFFICE CLOSED. Bruce Has Left the City and His

Creditors Are Despondent. The brokerage office of Robert Bruce The brokerage office of Robert Brice, stituted in Willard's hotel, was closed yesterday morning. But few people interested were taken by surprise, as Mr. Bruce's absence in Chicago, where he has been since the early part of this month, was generally understood to be caused by financial embarrassment. On Saturday telegrams were received from him stating that he would do the best he could for Chiego to purchase wheat, grain, oil, or stocks, whichever his customers wished to "in-vest" in.

Claims that were sent here for collection from New York, where Bruce conducted business before coming here, including one for $500 from Steve French, caused those who were cognizant of the fact to view his business with suspicion, and the fact that ordinary creditors have been persistently but fruitlessly dunning him for some time, caused his business to fail off to a merely nominal amount. In the meantime he has been lavish in his personal expenditure, and, being efgood presence, managed to keep his credit up to the day of his departure. His absence at the republican convection caused a flurry of excitement, but he returned and indignantly denied that there was anything wrong in his affairs. The amount of his indebtedues upon ordinary business and "private debts is said, to be from $5.000 to $1,000, the sufferers including all classes of business men from a hotel proprietor to his tailor.

Whatever losses may have been suffered by investors they are keeping quiet about it. Mr. A. B. Mason, his late bookkeeper, stated yesterday that he expected Mr. Bunce to return shorily. The situation at the office, which had resumed its previous occupation as a simple reading room, was quiet, the absence of the leigraph instrument making the silence seem oppressive. There were no applications on the part of former investors, nor did any fresh ones turn up. The only interested visitor was the collector for a daily paper, who had a dishonored sight draft in his hand for an advertising bill.

Upon one of the handsome brass signs at the door were the names of Caruthers & Allen, as New York correspondents, and N. K. Fairbanks & Co., at Chicago, while the other contained the name of "Henry T. Godet & Co., members of the New York stock and petroleum exchanges."
